

Winter season program - > Review

Dates in review: December 1 to February 28

Dear Parents and Guardians,

This winter, our Beaver Scouts continued to enjoy a variety of activities that encouraged learning, creativity, teamwork, and active play. Each experience helped our youth build confidence, develop practical skills, and strengthen friendships while having fun together.

Science & Discovery - Beavers explored the wonders of science during a visit to the Science Centre, led by Scouter Meghan. Through interactive exhibits and hands-on exploration, youth were encouraged to ask questions, experiment, and discover how science connects to the world around them.

Community Service & Generosity - Our Beavers also practiced giving back to the community by grocery shopping for food donations, led by Scouter Jaime. This activity helped youth understand the importance of helping others and working together to support people in need. The Colony also received its Christmas Gift Package from beavers in Newfoundland. We enjoy using their syrup on our snow cones at this season church sleep over.

Creativity & Seasonal Fun - During a festive meeting led by Scouter Ryan, Beavers enjoyed making Christmas crafts. This activity allowed youth to express their creativity while celebrating the spirit of the season.

Outdoor Adventure - A Glow in the Dark Hike, organized by Scouter Justin, brought excitement to an evening outdoors. Equipped with glow sticks and enthusiasm, Beavers explored the monuments around Wascana Park in a unique way.

Skills Development - Beavers completed their First Aid Outdoor Adventure Skills Level 1 with Scouter Meghan. Through simple, age-appropriate activities, youth learned the basics of staying safe and helping others in emergencies.

Learning in the Community - A tour of the George Bothwell library, led by Scouter Tim, introduced Beavers to the many resources available in their community. Youth learned about books, learning spaces, and how libraries help support curiosity and discovery.

Active Play & Physical Activity - Staying active was also an important part of the program this season. Beavers enjoyed energetic play at Olympic Auto indoor play structure with Scouter Chantel and practiced their skating skills at the Optimist arena led by Scouter Ryan. These activities helped youth build confidence, coordination, and physical skills.

Thank you to all our Beaver families for your continued support. These experiences are made possible through the dedication of our Scouters and the encouragement of our families.

Yours in Scouting,

Greg Korpan
